Not Taken By Russians

By HENRY CASSEY
MOSCOW, Aug. 19.—(AP)—The Red army, holding positions to which it had dropped back in the last several days, fought fiercely today against a continuing German offensive stretching from the Lake Peipus region to Odessa.

Announcement last night of the abandonment of Kingisepp, 75 miles from Leningrad in the northwest sector, followed on strategic retreat from Mookshov, on the central front, and Nikitar, in the southwest.

The new line appeared to be firmly held under the Soviet command's tactics of keeping the Red army intact to inflict the heaviest possible losses upon the invaders.

Today's communique, without stating positions, said only that battles continued during the night along the entire front.

Soviet and German armies were reported, however, to be battling within 15 miles of the city.

Timoshenko, miles of Leningrad, the Soviet's second largest city, after the withdrawal at Kingisepp.

Moscow's midnight communique credited Russian tanks, boats and bombers with sinking a German submarine and two transports in the Baltic.

The capital had another air raid.

During the night, official accounts said damage was insignificant, although some explosives and fire bombs were dropped on the city by the single raid reported to have broken through anti-aircraft and night fighter defenses.

Soviet abandonment of Kingisepp, inside Russia proper near the old Estonian border on the Tallinn-Leningrad railway, indicated the Germans were making fresh efforts to advance toward the former capital. Action appeared to be heaviest on the northwest front and in the southwestern sector.

Over-all surplus on income and capital account for Alberta government

financing for the fiscal year ended on March 31 last, totalled $2,270,845.19, according to figures released Tuesday by Hon. Solon E. Low, provincial treasurer. This is an increase of $1,934,293.88 over the over-all surplus for the fiscal year ended on March 31, 1940, which totalled $336,551.31.

That the provincial financial condition has remained good in the first months of the current fiscal year, which began on April 1 last, was evidenced last week when Mr. Low released a statement of the first three months' operations, bringing the position down to June 30. On that date and for the three month period the over-all cash surplus, excluding new borrowings and a redemption, totalled $1,233,430.32.

In his statement, which is preliminary to the release in the complete accounts for the fiscal year, Mr. Low points out that the actual over-all surplus is in excess of that estimated. A surplus of $1,089,841.38 was forecast, but the $2,270,845.19 shows more satisfactory results than anticipated.

Figures reveal that the operating surplus, before making provision for debt charges and unemployment insurance, was $1,041,411.38, as against $819,590 in 1940, an increase of $221,821.

After deduction of debt charges of $818,508 as against $327,780 the previous year, the net result of operations was $222,903 as against $721,629 the previous year and including other charges, income account shows a surplus of $230,303 as against $247,800 in 1940, an increase of $1,855,121.

Empire Nations To Extend Life Of Air Scheme

By FRANK FLAHERTY
OTTAWA, Aug. 19.—(CP)—Preliminary negotiations to extend the life of the British Commonwealth Air Training plan started in London, Air Minister C. G. Power told The Canadian Press Monday.

The agreement under which thousands of young men from Canada, Australia and New Zealand are being trained in Canada for fighting service as pilots, observers and air gunners was made for a three-year period and nominally expires March 31, 1941.

At a press conference July 28 Mr. Power said in reply to a question whether the plan would be extended, the authorities are not yet in a position to say.

He intimated Canada will be more directly concerned in later stages of the negotiations which may take place here after the other three parties have completed preliminary discussions.

NEW AGREEMENT
The new agreement, it is expected, will place the training plan on a new accounting basis, with Canada supplying the training at much per man. Under the present arrangement, with one country supplying machines and contributions in kind, and another participating in money payments, the accounting problem has become difficult.

The senior partner in the agreement, Britain, now is carrying on discussions with Australia and New Zealand about the extension of the plan.

The new agreement, it is expected, will place the training plan on a new accounting basis, with Canada supplying the training at much per man. Under the present arrangement, with one country supplying machines and contributions in kind, and another participating in money payments, the accounting problem has become difficult.

The senior partner in the agreement, Britain, now is carrying on discussions with Australia and New Zealand about the extension of the plan.

He intimated Canada will be more directly concerned in later stages of the negotiations which may take place here after the other three parties have completed preliminary discussions.

Pacific Playground Provides Thrilling Spectacles, Scenic Beauties In Marked Contrast

VANCOUVER, B.C., Aug. 19.—(Great Consolidated) PBV bombers and hard-working, straw-hatted and bronzed Oriental truck gardeners provide striking contrasts in the rich Fraser River delta lands immediately adjacent to Vancouver in Canada's evergreen playground.

Increasingly important in the war training for the day when the best of the Pacific coast scene of more activity than at any time in its history. Training under the elementary flying training plan moves forward at an increased clip augmented by the new and adjacent Boundary Bay school opened recently by Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Planes of this training scheme—bright yellow "Tiger Moths"—light for spectators recently, in the sleek silver ships of Canada's national airline—Trans-Canada Airline.

Overhead and in the south-to-morrow's pilots of the R.A.F. play at war, training for the day when their imaginary bomb racks will be moved at least part way by water. Some economists suspect indeed every drop was shipped by water across the Black Sea to Constantinople, Russia's chief port, or to nearby points, and thence up the Danube.

Russia's railways, inadequate even in peacetime to meet Soviet domestic needs, were relied on during the period of the Russian civil war for the export of grain and other commodities. On both sides of the fighting front, these railways must be in and out now.

Butler that control of the Mediterranean is likewise essential to any lasting Axis triumph figured in the prediction made in Congress by Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the United States army, that the next big campaign would be an attempt to break Russia's blockade of the Black Sea.

Should Germany some day be able to ship Russian and Rumanian wheat and oil from the Black Sea through the Mediterranean to Marseille, Trieste and France, for distribution by rail from these ports, much of the problem of feeding and supplying Europe would be solved.

BROOKLYN INCREASES LEAD

Reiser's Ninth Inning-Homer Saves Dodgers

Hey, Those Tough Guys Are Back Again!

Pirates Rally Had Fans Jittery

BROOKLYN, Aug. 18.—"Dem bums", alias the Dodgers, gave Brooklyn fans a two-hour nightmare here yesterday that ended only when Pete Reiser lashed out a homer in the ninth inning to give the Men of MacPhail a 6-5 win over Pittsburgh—a victory that increased Brooklyn's first place margin in the National League to a full game over the idle St. Louis Cardinals.

Stalwart Flatbush citizens sat and writhed in pain as the Dodgers made six errors that gave the Pirates four unearned runs.

It was Reiser's day right from the start in the third inning he connected for two-run triple, a fine come-back for the fiery youngster who was benched last year for weak hitting.

Going into the ninth inning the Dodgers were leading 5-3 and then they started kicking the ball around. By the time they got going under control again, the Pirates had the game up 5-3 in the bottom of the ninth.

Reiser's homer, a 14-foot drive that landed in the left field, was the only hit of the night. The Dodgers' error in the eighth inning was a double play. The Pirates' error in the eighth was a double play. The Pirates' error in the eighth was a double play.

WHERE is football in the air these days and most of the grid fans in these parts are wondering how Vancouver Grizzlies, new entry in the Western Conference, will make out. It seems that Greg Kabat, the former Winnipeg Bomber who is playing coach for the conference babies, has his Grizzlies hard at work and that he is making a fine impression on the public as players alike.

Says Stu Keane, sports editor of the Vancouver Province:

"I like Kabat's approach to the situation in our town. He is facing a tough deal. He's new out here, it's our first year in big-league Canadian football, and he is sure in need of players. But this is what he says:

"Any team that will go in there fighting won't be licked by an awful lot. The guy that likes to tackle is a tough cookie to start with. He may be short in experience, and he's going to make some mistakes. But he's also going to do some things right. If he's a fighting ball player, and every now and then he's going to do 'em right in the clutch."

"The best bet Kabat has had in training to date is in getting Joe Ross out to practice. The Winnipeg boy is very high on 'Jo-Jo'."

"To my mind, there isn't a football coach in the United States who wouldn't give Ross a very good try-out," Kabat told me. "The guy has got everything. He can catch a pass and for a big man he's awfully fast. You tell him something once and it's all over. There's not a doubt in my mind that he'll be one of the best ends in Canada."

"Kabat also likes Joe Keyes. His reason is simple. Keyes is hard worker."

"So you can see that I am voting the straight Kabat ticket in this new football venture of ours. The guy has me. He shoots from the shoulder. Here's a place for work."

"At this early date, there's only two points on which we disagree. He says it's no disgrace for a golfer to use an iron off the tee. I claim that it makes no difference if a fellow can slap the ball 250 yards with a one-iron. (He once won the Wisconsin junior title with five irons in his bag.) And he has bet me a dinner that Joe Louis will knock the can off Lou Nova next month."

"I am already figuratively chomping at a delectable fillet mignon on that last offer. With mushroom sauce, egad!"

Rounding Up The Strays

OUT at Vancouver the boys who like to make wagers on things sports-related have made Freddie Wood the outstanding favorite to win the Western Canada Open. Judging from the entry, there will likely be some sensational part-breaking done.

While some of the finest British thoroughbred horses have been sold and shipped to North America and South America, Lord Derby has announced that Hyperion, the leading sire in Great Britain, is not for sale at any price. Hyperion is rated the best stallion the old country has had for 50 years.

"Hyperion will remain here with his owner to see this war through, because England has need of his services," Lord Derby declared. He is said to have rejected an offer of $15,000.

Best Crack of the Week Department—The fans at a game between Albuquerque and Robben of the Arizona-Texas League were complaining about the umpiring, according to Charlie Medvedette in the Sporting News. "You're rotten," a fan yelled at the plate umpire. "You don't even know the baseball rules!" Another fan replied: "How do you expect him to? They don't print 'em in Brazil!"

Marvin Shannon of Fort Worth, Tex., a blind golfer, has challenged for the blind championship of the United States. The present titleholder is Clint Russell of Duluth, who defeated Dr. W. H. K. Croshaw of England three years ago. Present plans are to play the match on Aug. 24 at Duluth, Minn.

Continued men use caddies as their "eyes." The caddy describes the terrain, the lie of the ball, the distance to the hole and then places the club in the proper position. The blind player then swings. Russell has been playing in the 90s consistently.

Rookie Cup Poor

Connie Yarns For Oldtime Type Of Hurler For Athletics

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 19.—(AP)—There'll be some changes made in the Athletics next year, says Connie Mack who isn't at all impressed with his present crop of ball players although he admits there are a few promising rookies on the horizon.

Somewhere along the line he's going to get some new pitchers. To like to have just one man like Walter, Combs or Egan, who have been the mainstay of the team for years.

"They know how to pitch. They know how to follow directions. They had control."

"This present day crop, uh, but I believe that Connie's oldtime type of hurler, man Pete Sider whom many consider headed toward bigger things."

"Sider has been consistent. A disappointment to me," says Connie. "He can't walk and he hits into too many double plays."

There's first baseman Dick Sebel who has been having a good season. "But you can't expect him to hit 50," says Mack.

Connie believes outfielder Bob Johnson is slipping but "make no mistake, he's a great outfielder. He has the finest spirit on the club."

Wally Moses has been handicapped by a shoulder injury but Connie hopes he'll be in shape next season to replace Moses and Johnson.

Junior Playoff Canadians On Spot

Tonight will tell whether the Canadian Athletic Club, the club that peeped the Edmonton Junior Baseball League through the great-est of the season without a defeat, will be playing any more this season or just watching the championship slip from the Bleachers.

Canadians play the Maple Leaf Athletic Club at Renfrew Park in the second game of the best of three series at 6:15 p.m. today.

Lead won the first game of this semi-final series 4-1.

Emberg is the likely choice of Coach Dick Speer for starting pitcher against the Leafs, while the latter are expected to rely on Pete Danjowich—the pitcher who was credited with the opening win in this series.

The playoffs are on off to a flying start this year. Already there have fallen on this battered deck 14 applications from all over the country from gentlemen—and one lady—who claim to have an infallible system for picking winners.

These 14 prophets want to sell me this information so that I, in turn, can pass it along to you and all of us get rich by betting with our friends on whether Slippery Rock Normal will defeat Podunk State Teachers College.

In case one of your friends happens to buy information from a prophet, then it will be a one of the inevitable force meeting the immovable object.

The emergence of the pigskin prophet is only one manifestation of what sports writers call the "Australian Method" of betting.

The great American public (to bet on football games). But before you purchase the prophetic of any prophet, please remember that you, too, can be a prophet. All you need is a schedule, a pencil and some paper on which to record your prophecies.

Of course, you are going to be wrong a lot of times, but don't let that stop you. It never stopped me. I'm a pigskin prophet. Then you shall find out to your sorrow when the season gets under way. Most pigskin prophets are lucky if they have an average of 50%.

But in case you want to climb up to around 80% here are a few simple rules:

1. Make prophecies on as many games as possible and by all means don't confine your predictions to the closest 20 games in the country. The more games you pick, the more "punchy" you are going to get. You know, Tennessee vs. Sewanee last year.

2. Be able to tell on Wednesday the exact weather conditions on every major gridline in the country for the following Tuesday. Then you will be able to apply the principle that a heavy wet will give ground attack has the advantage in.

Athletic Meet For Senior Girls Here Next Week

Plans are being completed for the holding of the girls' athletic meet at Clarke Stadium on Friday, Aug. 30.

The meet, held under auspices of the Alberta Branch, Women's Amateur Athletic Federation of Canada and of which Miss Juliana Lawrence is secretary, is really a trial test for the purpose of choosing girls for the Dominion meet being staged at Toronto on Sept. 6.

The trials here are open to all senior women athletes in the province and at least three will be coming from Calgary, and it is expected that entries will also be received from other points.

Most prominent amongst the Edmonton contenders are June Cavanaugh, Gertrude Hagen and Frances Pratt.

There is also a possibility that the girls named to represent the coast province may stop off here for the meet while on their way east from Vancouver.

Trosky, Boudreau Forced Quit Game Through Injuries

CLEVELAND, Aug. 19.—(AP)—A couple of injured Cleveland Indians infielders learned Monday they might be out of action the rest of the season.

Hal Trosky, currently hitting .294, went on the shelf for "at least several weeks" as Dr. B. B. Castle, club physician, found the first baseman received a double fracture of the left thumb in his collision with Ted Lyons in the first game of Sunday's doubleheader at Chicago.

Shortstop Lou Boudreau, generally regarded as the Tribe's sparkling star although he is batting only .286, has a possible incision hernia—a rupture of an incision in the abdominal wall—after last fall. He strained his side in the seventh inning of Sunday's opener.

Manager Roger Peckinpaugh ordered Oscar Grimes to take over first base and assigned Russ Pate to Boudreau's position.

The unaccustomed freedom in which every child reveals who goes to school alone for the first time—no mother to drive him—no older companion to hold his hand—may lead to behavior which is an advertisement of his emotions.

When he is alone, a child soon ful of the command or the person who gives it.

But discovery that if he doesn't come home he loses the privileges he might have enjoyed if he did will show any child that if he wants to have companions or go places and do things the desirable practhe more enchanting because he is seeing them as he pleases. It's all his own. He can't hear the diverse voices of companions threatening him to come home with them. He can't hear the mother's voice, five percent in his pocketbook, every store on route beckons to him. He is to spend a little.

Such situations are the common complaint of mothers that their children never come right home. They are not home. They are out to go to children's homes and have to be routed out at dinner time.

At school, the child (the school) should become such a well-established habit that a child does not respond to the mother when he is told over and over again that he is to come straight home from school. He is to come straight home from school. He is to come straight home, and then, and then he can stay.

The trouble is that many a conscientious youngster has come home from school and then discovered that mother had a dozen plans for his time, or she was not in the mood to let him do as he pleased.

It is in his own life to play. Such experiences will teach any child that if he is to have any fun he'd better have it before he gets home.

If he loiters a little, try to be patient about it. But if he fails to return within a reasonable time, go after him and find him, wherever he is. Bring him home and curtail his privileges for the day, because he didn't come home.

Mothers have to recognise that in teaching a child a good habit they may be compelled to expend some time and energy. Just to say, "Come straight home," and then to have the child come home with a bad habit is a waste of time.

V Is For Victory—Also Vim And Vivacity

Prelude To Death Of Photographer

The photographer who made this dramatic picture on Mount Ranier, Washington, lost his own life shortly after in a crevasse similar to the one shown in his picture.
